The broadcast was heard here shortly after a report was received of the resignation last night of Premier Antanas Merkys and his Nationalist Union Lith-uanian cabinet, which added that General Stasys Rastikis, former Lithuanian commander-in-chief, had been entrusted with formaion of a new government with wider representation.

It was not immediately clear whether the Merkys government had fallen on the Russian issue. Russia and Lithuania signed a nutual assistance pact in October, 939, under which Lithuania regained Vilna, its former capital, which had gone to Russia in the German-Russian division of Poland. In exchange, Russia was granted the right to place an unetermined number of troops

Congress Is Asked to Act So That Entire Motor Industry May Be Giant Factory

Washington, June 15 (49-President Roosevelt arranged to receive the British and French ambassadors today.

The appointment was made at the request of the envoys. Lord Lothian, the British ambassador, and Count de St. Quentin, the French envoy, were scheduled to call at the White House together a half hour after a call by Alexander Kirk, American charge d'affaires at Berlin, who has been in this country about 10 days.

Stephen Early, White House press secretary, would not discuss the purpose of the diplomats' call. But he repeated to reporters at his press conference that this government was doing all it could to furnish needed supplies to the allies

Request Is Made

(By The Associated Press) Washington, June 15—Congress was asked today to empower President Roosevelt to turn the nation's entire automotive industry into a gigantic aircraft factory at once to produce 50,000 warplanes for the hard-pressed Allies.

The resolution, drafted by Sen-ator Pepper (D., Fla.), drew fire, however, even before its formal introduction, particularly from Senator Holt (D., W. Va.), who scored it as "dictatorial."

Pepper's proposal reflected the grave concern manifest in many congressional quarters over the desperate plight of the Allies. Talk urned to the fate of the French (Continued on Page 14)

War Makes Birth Decline Deaths on the battlefield are not alone responsible for the decrease in population reported at the end of every war. In fact, the Journal of the American Medical association states in a recent issue: "Actual battle losses are matched by losses in future population due to reductions in the birth rate."

The depletion of young men and the resulting disturbance of the ratio of marriageable men and women constitute one of the most serious effects of war, the magazine that 72 per cent of German military deaths and 55 per cent of French military deaths during the World war were men under 30.

In 1910, both Germany and France reported they had about as many men as women. After the World war, however, Germany reported an excess of 150 women per 1,000 men between 25 and 29 years, 259 per 1,000 from 30 to 34, and 181 per 1,000 from 35 to 39.

For the same age groups, France reported an excess of women, respectively, of 261, 206 and 176. The Journal says:

"Some of the results, such as the great increase in the proportion of marriages in the postwar period in which the groom was much older than the bride, were quite obvious. Another effect was the continued fall of the birth rate after the war. Clearly the actual battle losses are matched by losses in future population due to reduction of the birth

FIRE IN THE FOREST

"Be careful of fire in the forest, lest a spark should lay waste the treasure of the generations," says an editorial in the Portland Oregonian. "The time of danger is here again....It is true that not all forest fires are started by careless vacationists—perhaps no more than a minor fraction of them-but were the forests miraculously restored that have been destroyed by vacationists the green area of them would be vast.

"It is best not to smoke as you pass through the friendly forest, but if you must smoke be sure that the match is out, and that the ember of the cigarette is extinguished. Be careful even to what may seem absurdity-for there can be no absurdity in such precautions....Put out your camp fire. With water. To the last spark. You have to be careful of fire in the forest....

"You are only one of us who is seeking the comfort and coolness, the green recreation, of the living and beautiful forest. It is your forest. It is the bequest of happiness and health and healing you should leave to your children's children. How cruel a thing it must seem if your love for the forest is the unwitting instrument that makes of it a pillar of smoke by day, of flame by night. Be careful of fire in the forest. It is that time of the year again.'

That eloquent message should be remembered. And be careful too of fire in the fields, in your home-anywhere you may go. It takes but a little effort. And it pays magnificent dividends-to you, to everyone else, and to posterity.

UNCLE SAM'S SPHERE

One of the surest things in the world right now is that the United States, with all its resources and brotherliness, cannot protect everybody and everything. The way a lot of things are going, we shall do pretty well to save our own skins and those of our immediate friends and neighbors.

This diminished ambition applies particularly to Canada, whose geographical, economic and ideological fate is firmly tied to ours. Next come Mexico, and Central America and the West Indies, with at least the northern tier of South American states. We and they must hang together, whether we like it or not.

But we are not going to fight anybody for Antarctica and adjacent lands. And mulling over the situation in the broad Pacific and on westward, we are inclined to hedge a little on American protectorates for some of our friends' possessions in the Indian Ocean. We might help there diplomatically, but would we fight for anybody else's islands? Are we sure we would fight even for the Philippines, which are technically ours for a few years yet?

This sort of mental exploration leads up naturally to the question of Japan and China. We want to stand by the Chinese, a friendly and potentially great nation, with which we can cooperate. But do we want to fight Japan? Common sense suggests that we should do our best to restore friendliness and insure peace with that country, if it can be done on tolerable terms, and keep Japan from an active military alliance with the big dictatorship countries.

SUCCESS AT DIPLOMACY

Comment is frequently made to the effect that Hitler, up to the present, has outsmarted the allies in the field of diplomacy. It is pointed out that he won in the case of Austria, of Italy, of Czechoslovakia, of Russia and in each instance the allies suffered a diplomatic defeat. It is also declared that he has gotten the better of things diplomatically in Rumania and Hungary.

As a matter of fact, however, Hitler's success in the diplomatic field is not due to the fact that he is more astute mentally than his opponents. His diplomatic victories were due not to mental agility but to a preponderance of airplanes, tanks and machine guns.

It was the threat of what he would do in a military way if he was not given his way in the diplomatic field which caused him to win out in the field of diplomatic politics, up to the time of the beginning of the world "O. - YOO-HOO!"

Nothing so impresses the helpless nation which is put on the spot as offensive armament-airplanes and cannon, for example. If France and England, when Hitler first started his invasion, had immediately set about to build an air fleet greater than Germany's, with tanks and cannon to match, then Hitler would have gained no more diplomatic victories.

Italy permitted Austria to fall into Hitler's lap, the Allies sold Czechoslovakia down the river, the Russians made a deal with Hitler because they were afraid of what he might do to them. Had the preponderance of armament been on the other side Hitler would have been about as effective a diplomat as Casper Milquetoast.

There is a lesson in this for the United States. If we want to take care of ourselves there is only one way to do it: build an air force and navy the strongest in the world, and one capable of defending our shores against attack from Europe and Asia. If we do this, we can be successful diplomatically, because the others will be afraid of us. But if we fail to arm ourselves to a point where we can command respect, then all the shrewdness of Bismarck, Disraeli, Benjamin Franklin and Richelieu, rolled into one, will avail us nothing. It's the diplomat with the most airplanes and the biggest guns who

GENTLE HINT

If France is doomed to die as a free nation, with no modern Joan to save her, and the light of freedom goes out on the European continent;

And if liberty is then extinguished also in the British Isles, from which America has borrowed her free and liberal institutions, and Europe ends with no more individuality than a beehive or anthill;

We Americans, then, looking on as the Dark Ages settle down again over the Old World, may still be able to bear it if we can maintain our political and spiritual freedom here in this New World.

But one thing must be made clear before things go any farther. Americans who know what free western Europe has been, and what we have inherited from it, won't want to hear anybody in this country gloat- Caracas, Venezuela, but after be- humor. THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M. D.

Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.) SKIN WILL ABSORB DRUGS INTO BODY

As you look at the skin it seems but a covering or bag to hold the solt parts together or to give some kind of shape to the body surface. It may not occur to you that the skin is just as much an organ as the stomach or liver. It has sweat glands whose tubes open on the surface to remove heat from inside the body, and oil glands and tubes to keep the skin pliable so it will not crack or break. Besides these sweat and oil glands and tubes, it has also the hair roots.

It is because of these various openings on to the surface of the skin that medicines rubbed on the skin finally reach the blood stream and hence the various parts of the body. Until the discovery that the arsenic preparations injected into the veins would rid the system of syphilis in a few months, mercury preparations were rubbed on the skin daily for not less than two years.

It is interesting to see that this rubbing of drugs on the skin is now coming into favor again where the other methods-injections into and under the skin, into the muscles, and into the veinsare not advisable. Physicians are now able to give accurate doses of "medicines" by rubbing them on

Drs. J. J. Eller and S. Wolff, New York, in Archives of Dermatology and Syphilology, report their experiments with various drugs and the in which these medicines were placed to make the application to the skin more easily done. Before applying the drug, the skin was wiped off with alcohol and patted dry with cotton.

The time taken and the depth of the penetration into the skin was recorded of six different fats. It was found that:

Fats permeate or enter the skin mostly along the hair shafts and the oil glands. 2 Liquid fats permeate the skin more rapidly

3. Animal fats show the greatest depth of penetration with vegetable fats next and mineral fats

4. Most of the fats reached their greatest depth between 4 and 6 hours after they are applied If, then, your physician advises that an "ointbe applied or rubbed into the skin, remember that your skin is not just a hard covering but an organ which permits the absorption into the blood of the various drugs prescribed.

Genorrhoea and syphilis are the two most dread-ed social diseases. It is well to know the truth about them. Send Ten Cents to the Bell Library Post Office Box 75, Station O, New York, N. The Revolution gave the capital and its people new importance and Napoleon gave it classic architecture to befit an imperial city. Then his namesake, Napoleon III, laid the basis of the modern city with its broad boulevards that could easily be raked by gunfire.

What A Fool, I Am'

LONE in the close heat of the room she wandered slowly to the one window and looked out on city lights. She felt as if she'd been in the grip of a fever which had, abruptly, passed. "What a fool I am," she thought, crying a little, "to coop myself up in this dingy oven of a room, to mix with people I don't want to understand, to sketch until my fingers ache and never take time off to try for anything better." She thought of her big, cool room at home; of the spacious quiet; of the lulling music of the surf; of deep, green water and warm sand; of her boat and her fishing and her friends and her house. And suddenly, terribly, achingly, she thought of Derek and the happy life they'd led at Sea Tide.

A lot of people soon get sick of running up and down the highways in a car. But there is an occasional man on whom it takes a hold almost as liquor clutches one with the soft spot in his brain for alcohol. Nothing does he like so well as a good long trip, and if he has to settle down for awhile and work or attend to things without taking to the road, he almost blows up.

Men know that this to Frigidaire's biggest year, with one coming off the assembly line every 171/2 seconds.

When the wife looks at conveniences, and the husband looks at construction, then we know they're really seeing what Frigidaire's got.

Fellow in here the other day, helping his wife pick out a Frig-idaire, told us that the first make she bought was as fancy a little ice box as you could hope to see, and that at first the lit-tle woman went big for all the gadgets that came with it, but that a few months later she found them such a nuisance she stored them in the attic. And about all she had left, he said, was a plain cupboard.

There still are a few Regis-tered Key Chains left. All you have to do is stop in at Herzog's next time you're going by and come to the Frigidaire Dept. on second floor, and get yours.

One customer wrote this

"Thank you very much for returning my keys. The service you are rendering is indeed appreciated by those having such an experience as mine."

Everyone knows what a nuisance, or even hardship, it is to lose keys. Yet it happens every day. But with a Reigistered Key Chain, the chance of having lost keys returned to you is much greater. Better come in for

Colorful Serving Dish Made From Picnic Plate

Clean Easily with Damp Cloth Perfect for summer refreshments - these gaily decorated serving plates! And you can make them yourself of picnic plates and scraps of bright paper. The prancing deer is light blue surrounded by gay flowers and the border is of alternating light and dark blue horseshoes.

For the horseshoes you have a printed pattern which you trace onto stout wrapping paper and cut out. Using the wrapping paper pattern, cut out 16 horse-shoes of light blue and 16 of dark blue. In the same way you trace off and cut out the designs for the deer and flowers.

Now, after giving your plate a coat of shellac, paste the design in place and then give the pate three more coats. You'll have a smart and practical plate you can clean with a damp cloth.

Just as easily you make plates using clever geometric designs, pretty flowers. For complete directions for these and many more novelties, see our 32-page booklet. Gives patterns for the "deer" plate; tells how to make a wallholder for plants, a smoking set, book-ends, a Victorian footstool, other attractive items.

Elmendorf Found Guilty on Charge

Walter R. Elmendorf, 56, Clintondale, was found guilty of the charge of driving a car while under the influence of liquor, and protesting his innocence, he was held in custody of the sheriff for sentence Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. -

The trial in county court before County Judge Andrew J. Cook took three days but the jury, which included three women, required but half an hour to arrive at its verdict Friday afternoon. Charged with having been intoxicated on August 20, last, when his car collided with two other machines at Clintondale within few hundred feet, Elmendorf said he was ill and subject to nervous and dizzy spells. He denied being drunk. The usual questions put to him by the clerk disclosed that he had been convicted for drunk-en driving at New Paltz on a prior occasion.

MAJOR LEAGUE ROUNDUD

(By The Associated Press) The test of a champion is what is sometimes called "winning when the chips are down."

The Brooklyn Dodgers loaded up with Joe Medwick in left field yesterday and passed their examination magna cum laude, shutting out the reigning Cincinnati Reds 2-0 and taking a full game lead in the National League's race. Luke Hamlin pitched twohit ball.

The margin of victory wasn't overwhelming and the clubs will have to do a lot more skirmishing to establish any real superiority. Of the nine games they have played together, the Dodgers have

But the fact remains that Brooklyn yesterday was a much stronger team than before Meddonned a Dodger monkeysuit. He got only one hit in four chances, but this was a single with two men on base in the third inning and it drove in one the two runs. In addition Medwick covered left field like a tarpaulin, making six putouts and inspiring the Dodgers to surpass themselves.

The fracas was the first of four-game series at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, and drew a crown of 27,000 fans, 10,000 of them Ladies' Day guests. The club said the park is sold out for today's game, with No-Hit Tex Carleton set to battle Bucky Walters, and for tomorrow's doubleheader. A sell-out is approximately 35,000.

Galehouse Checks 'Em While the Reds and Dodgers were trying to straighten out the National League tangle, the leaders in the American League took one step forward in unison. The Boston Red Sox, who are supposed to be weak in pitching, stifled the Chicago White Sox 5-1 in a night game with Dennis Galehouse holding Chicago to seven scattered hits.

The Cleveland Indians showed they are a dangerous lot, whether happy or not, by crushing the Philadelphia Athletics 8-0 on the two-hit hurling of Johnny Allen.
Allen came within five outs of a no-hit game, losing it on a single by Sam Chapman in the eighth. Hal Newhouser rationed the ashington Senators on five safeties as the Detroit Tigers ammed out a 10-1 victory on 13 hits, and the New York Yankees exploded a fearsome 17-hit bar-rage against the St. Louis Browns to win 12-3 in a night game. This decision followed close on the Yanks' four-straight conquest of the Browns in the east. Charley Keller had a perfect night at bat, hitting two home runs, a triple and a single.

Browns also announced they had obtained permission to play 14 night games at home this Syracuse 19 29 season instead of the seven to Toronto 19 33 which other clubs in both major agues are limited. Whether this was the first step toward a general letdown of the restrictions on night ball will be known when the National League meets next month. Sam Breadon is expected to ask the same privilege for the Cardinals.

Trim Phillies

He Was 'Sad' Seattle (A) - For obscure reasons, sports writers often have hung the nickname "Sad" on any baseball pitchers named Sam. But the reasons weren't so obscure this year in the case of southpaw Sam Baker of the University of Washington's tailend Northern Division Pacific Coast Conference diamond entry. Baker was regarded as one of the division's best pitchers although he won but one er, 4 to 4, and another, 4 to 3.

Neff to Toss Them Against Dorpians; Poole Is Opponent

Locals Out to Return to Victory Column Again; Mohawk Giants Play at Stadium Wednesday

The Kingston Recs will resume their activities tomorrow afternoon at Municipal Stadium against the Schenectady Thelans. Charlie Neff and Tommy Poole are the probable starting hurlers. Game time is 3 o'clock.

Representatives of the Schenectady Twilight League, the Thelans will come to Kingston with a record of five consecutive league victories without any setbacks. It will be their first appearance in After piling up 4 straight wins this season the Recs were finally stopped last Sunday afternoon when Harold Kromer put the skids on with a six-hitter. Following the game Manager Husta called for several extensive batting drills which have been held this week.

In facing the Thelans, Kingston will have to look at another famed hurler. Tommy Poole, who will probably toe the slab for the upstate team, has been going great this season and with the real hot weather setting in, his assortment should really have the local team on the watch.
